

HEALTH SURVEY OF STATE COMPLETED

Phoenix, August 7th.—The recent Health Survey conducted under the direction of the State Board of Health and the Arizona Anti-Tuberculosis Association has revealed a condition of congestion in some of the larger towns and of proximity of children to tuberculosis and other communicable diseases almost unbelievable in their extent. This is set forth in an article appearing in the current issue of the Bulletin just published by the State Board of Health. Mr. T. C. Cuvelier, who is in charge of this work found housing conditions among the poorer families of Phoenix and Tucson fully as bad as any he has seen in his wide experience in the tenement districts of New York and other large centers of population. Many families were living, eating, sleeping and cooking in the same room with scores of them crowded into a single block or group of dwellings opening on a common court. In many of these cases children were found living in the same room as persons afflicted with positive cases of tuberculosis. In many cases filth and flies contributed to the general squalor and unhealthiness of the surroundings.

The object of these surveys may be stated as follows:

- 1.—To determine the housing conditions with especial reference to congestion.
- 2.—To ascertain the number of cases where children are in close proximity to cases of positive pulmonary tuberculosis or other communicable diseases.
- 3.—To ascertain the household surroundings with reference to the proximity of stables, garbage depositories and other fly-breeding spots.
- 4.—To investigate the water supply and trace the origin of pollution.
- 5.—To prepare accurate records of all cases of sickness during the past year and at the same time with the idea of being able to point out the need of a permanent public health nurse for every community.
- 6.—To point out the need of establishing free clinics about which the work of the public health nurse would center.
- 7.—To ascertain the sanitary conditions of stores, restaurants, hotels and soda fountains.

Phoenix was the first point of attack in the establishment of the free clinic system. A trial demonstration clinic handled scores of cases and the data obtained together with that secured in the general health survey of the community have been invaluable. A similar clinic has just been concluded at Tucson, one has just been opened at Prescott and Morenci, as a typical mining camp with large foreign population will be next on the list.

As showing the scope of the survey work, Mr. Cuvelier gives some facts and figures on the recent Tucson survey and clinic which are truly illuminating.

A house to house canvass was made by the public health nurses in charge of the campaign, taking in the poorer congested districts and some of the tuberculosis colonies. A total of 969 positive cases of pulmonary tuberculosis was discovered. In addition there were 570 persons from 45 states and territories, who had come to Tucson following influenza conditions which did not clear. Mr. Cuvelier says it is safe to say that a majority of these are tubercular. Added to this were 108 cases of persons who had come to find relief from past pneumonia conditions, many of whom may have incipient tuberculosis. There were also reported 139 cases of asthma and 76 cases of bronchitis, the symptoms of which are similar to pulmonary tuberculosis.

There has been a general impression that the white plague in this State has been confined to the Mexican population largely. This is disproven by the fact that of the 960 positive cases reported in Tucson 726 were of white Americans and only 106 of Mexicans with the remainder scattered among other foreigners.

One of the most alarming things revealed was the fact that there were 1087 children of school age and under living in intimate association with positive tuberculosis patients. Of the 22 cases of tuberculosis among children examined in the clinic in each case it was found that the child was living in close quarters with some other person afflicted. Thirty families were found eating, sleeping and cooking in the same room, where there were adult positive cases of tuberculosis. Fourteen families with tuberculosis in the family were found living in two rooms and 18 families similarly affected living in three rooms. One case was found of a family of eight persons living in one room with an advanced case of tuberculosis. The boy patient was removed to a hospital. Practically 50 per cent of families living in congested quarters were found to be surrounded by decidedly insanitary conditions with regards to kitchens, toilets, sloop and garbage containers.

The survey and clinic at Tucson have resulted in the establishment of a permanent clinic with a public health nurse in charge, the first in the State. This work will be carried on under the direction of the Pima County Anti-Tuberculosis Association. Though attention will be centered at present on the prevention of the spread of tuberculosis, it is hoped to broaden the scope to include all

Suits for Summer Journeys

AMONG other good things turned out for the benefit of June brides there were some new designs in taffeta suits, to be worn on the wedding journey. But June brides can't have a monopoly of good fortune and other women have been quick to see the advantages of taffeta for summer journeys: These suits are cool, shed dust, easily cleaned, smartly made and they are that "something different" that makes so strong an appeal at this season.

One of these taffeta suits, together with an attractive cloth suit, is pictured above; they are interesting because both embody some new style features. The taffeta is a revelation of accurate machine stitching as used to supply the decoration and in the cloth suit embroidery is managed in a new way. Fourteen rows of stitching at the bottom of the taffeta skirt, put in with a perfection of workmanship that delights the eye, are repeated above the hem of the coat. They finish the flaring sleeves. But the bands of stitching in herring-bone pattern that adorn the coat are even more difficult to achieve and there are groups of vertical lines above the parallel rows at the hem. The coat is set on a small, plain yoke and has a narrow silk girdle covered with stitching.

A detachable cape of duvetyne lined with machine-stitched taffeta is the outstanding novelty in the suit. The lining is of the same taffeta. A narrow band fastens it about the neck under the rolled-over taffeta collar.

Peach brown, a soft wool fabric, makes the second suit. A braided pattern, simulating embroidery appears in a band which curves over the hips on the full pleatum. The same work adorns the front of the coat and the collar. On the coat sleeves that flare a little at the hand, a row of bone-buttons make an unexpected finish.

Tucson is in need of a new set of housing laws and laws on sanitation for the protection of the public against its contact with communicable diseases says Mr. Cuvelier. There are no laws on fumigation. While there are some State laws governing the situation, Mr. Cuvelier says there are grossly neglected. So much for Tucson. Reports on the conditions found in other communities will be given in future issues of the bulletin.

The State Board of Health is seeking to improve insanitary conditions through the establishment of the public nurse and the clinic system in every community in Arizona. Once the public has been educated to the idea of prevention, sanitation and cleanliness, enforcement will not be difficult to handle. As it is today, Arizona is far behind on public health matters, but from the interest taken in the present campaign it is safe to predict that health conditions generally will be improved 100 per cent in the next twelve months if the public will co-operate as it has in the recent past.

She—Why are all vessels spoken of as "she"? It's because they all glide so beautiful, isn't it?
He—No, it's because their rigging costs so much.
